Gifted & Talented

Parents and teachers are invited to nominate students for the Gifted and Talented program.

This is a multi-step process that will involved the following items:

1. Fill out one of the nomination forms below
2. Fill out the SIGS form for each child nominated
3. Student will take the CogAT Assessment
4. Mrs. Greenwood will collect data from the students, teachers and parents (including qualitative and quantitative data)
5. The GT Team will meet to determine a designation
6. All parties will be notified
7. Advanced Learning Plan will be developed, as needed

If you are interested in nominating a student, please fill out the nomination form and I will contact you with the next steps. We will be testing during the week of March 18th and all nominations are due by March 8th (Friday before Spring Break)

Museum for Black Girls

"Black Girl Magic" is more than a buzz-word or trend. It's the essence of Black women. The Museum for Black Girls is a space to celebrate this essence, as well as educate about the journey to our present state and liberation. Finally, and most importantly, our museum serves as a love letter to Black women and our experience.

The museum is ultimately a creative celebration of self-love and was created with the intention to highlight black girl magic moments and to recreate some of our memories in. This grassroots endeavor is all installed and put together by family and local artist collaborations.

Guests are invited to experience the joy of black girl magic through interactive installations, immersive rooms, and carefully curated moments....through the lens of black women.
