Forts & Flashlights

On Friday, January 26th we hosted Forts and Flashlights. This was an opportunity for older grades to connect with younger grades that they might not normally interact with. Students brought in items to build forts, pajamas and flashlights. The classes would work together to build forts, learn about each other and read books together with their flashlights while under their forts. This was a great experience for all grades with grate feedback from the teachers. We are looking forward to hosting this event again in the near furture.

Museum for Black Girls

"Black Girl Magic" is more than a buzz-word or trend. It's the essence of Black women. The Museum for Black Girls is a space to celebrate this essence, as well as educate about the journey to our present state and liberation. Finally, and most importantly, our museum serves as a love letter to Black women and our experience.

The museum is ultimately a creative celebration of self-love and was created with the intention to highlight black girl magic moments and to recreate some of our memories in. This grassroots endeavor is all installed and put together by family and local artist collaborations.

Guests are invited to experience the joy of black girl magic through interactive installations, immersive rooms, and carefully curated moments....through the lens of black women.
